Contract Schooling 'Works' In Spots

"Performance contracting" is a relatively recent innovation in education.

Simply stated, it involves a private company coming into a school and guaranteeing to teach students certain skills, usually the basic ones of reading and math, or refund part of its fee.

It was one of the most promising, certainly one of the most provocative, of a number of new teaching ideas to have been put forward after the nation began to realize that millions of school children, chiefly in the inner cities, were simply not being educated.

In 1970, the Office of Economic Opportunity launched a $5.6-million experiment with six private firms in 18 school districts. In all, 13,000 children in grades 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 were involved. Another 10,000 children outside the experiment were used for comparison.

A few weeks ago, the OEO reluctantly announced its verdict: The children in the performance contracting classes showed no identifiable gains over children in ordinary classes.

"We have not found a panacea for teaching poor children reading and math," said OEO Director Phillip V. Sanchez. "Now we are going back to the drawing board."

At least two facts were obscured by the flurry of headlines raised by the announcement.

For one thing, no responsible contractor ever claimed to have a panacea. For another, there are contracts in existence in 54 school districts in 24 states which were never part of the OEO experiment, and reports on their results have been much more favorable.

An outstanding example is that of Behavioral Research Laboratories of Palo Alto, Calif., the pioneer and largest company in the field. BRL currently runs the largest guaranteed performance contract in educational history in Philadelphia. Last year it became the first private company to take over and operate an entire public school, Banneker Elementary in Gary, Ind.

One of the company's newest contracts is with a school district in Dade County (Miami), Florida, to teach reading and math to grade schoolers, many of whom are the children of migrant farm laborers.

District Superintendent Dr. William A. Byrd predicts success for the program because, he says, unlike the OEO experiment, it has specific goals and because the initiative for the program and the commitment to it originated at the local district and school level, not in Washington.

BRL President Roger H. Sullivan argues bluntly that the results of OEO contractors in no way reflect the results attained by others.

"We feel that a performance contract done properly can be a great asset to American education," he says. "For the first time, it makes publishers responsible for the materials and services they place in the hands of teachers and students. No longer will ineffective materials or methods remain in the school district year after year."

Significantly, at their recent annual meeting in Atlantic City, the American Association of School Administrators passed a resolution expressing continued confidence in performance contracting.

Could be, as Mark Twain might say, that reports of the death of performance contracting have been somewhat exaggerated. —Camden News

Large Crowd Attends Chamber Banquet Here

CONGRESSMAN DAVID PRYOR

THOMAS E. HAYS, JR.

A large crowd turned out Thursday night for the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet in the Third District Livestock Show Coliseum.

Congressman David Pryor, a candidate for the U.S. Senate, told the group "It is difficult for a politician to stand up for 20 minutes and not talk about politics," and he didn't.

Pryor said, "I think we're going to see a knitting together of this country at long last. Hopefully in the decade of the 1970s we can put it together again. We've got to know we can only be one nation. We're one, that's what the purpose of this great nation is."

Thomas E. Hays Jr. was named the Citizen of the Year; Kathleen N. Jordan, the Teacher of the Year; and Paul Henley was honored for his work as Parks & Recreational director. The awards were announced by Chamber President J. W. Rowe and Haskell Jones, winner of the citizen of the year award last year.

Mrs. Jordan teaches at Hope High School and is sponsor of the Bobettes and Student Council. Henley directs the city's youth program and attributed his award to the fine cooperation of the citizens of Hope.

Mr. Hays, president of First National Bank and head of the Industrial Foundation, outlined the organization's work during the past year and told the group some 1,000 new jobs have been created.

He discussed Spears Carpet Mill which will employ 175 persons when it gets into production by June 1; Kustom-Craft which now employs 20; Tennessee Forging Steel Co. which is under construction and will employ 240; Kroger Feed Mill with 40 workers and Hope Foods, Inc. which works 60 persons and Permaneer Corp. which will add 100 new jobs to its present plant and will begin construction in the fall of a furniture plant that will employ from 450 to 500 persons. He said Gulf States Paper Co. of Tuscaloosa, Ala. may choose to locate here and if so, will work 100; an iron company may also come in and will employ 40 persons and Kroger still has a poultry processing plant on its program.

Nixon to Cut Pay Board Following Defections

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new "public" Pay Board set a rare Friday meeting for today as President Nixon pondered which four businessmen he must fire to balance four union defections.

United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock left the board Thursday as Nixon announced his plans to reshape the board.

Woodcock, the fourth labor member to resign in two days, called for a congressional investigation of the whole wage-price control effort. House Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said he might get one.

The President said he will keep the present five public members of the board, plus just enough businessmen to balance whatever union members wish to stay. Woodcock resigned at almost the same time Nixon spoke, leaving Teamsters Union President Frank E. Fitzsimmons the sole representative of organized labor on the board.

So the new board will have seven members: Fitzsimmons, the five public members, and whichever of the present five business members Nixon chooses. The White House said it didn't know who the choice would be or when the decision would be made.

Director George Shultz of the Office of Management and Budget said all seven members would be considered public members, although the union and business representatives would be expected to stand up for their particular views.

The President, who personally announced his plans to newsmen after outlining them to a special session of the Cost of Living Council, severely criticized AFL-CIO President George Meany, who walked off the board Wednesday with two AFL-CIO colleagues.

Rockets to Attack Hailstorms

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to use rockets to attack the hailstorms that cost the nation up to $390 million a year in crop and property damage, it was learned today.

Scientists said small rockets carrying silver iodide will be fired from planes into thunderstorms suspected of being potential hail-producers to see if such seeding can cut hail formation.

The plans were disclosed by officials of the National Science Foundation in Washington and scientists of the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colo., in a telephone interview.

The tests are to be carried out this summer at the juncture of Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming, the scientists said. The test site is in the heart of "Hail Alley"—which extends north into South Dakota and south into Kansas—so called because it has the most hail in the country.

British Take Over in Ireland in Peace Bid

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The British government announced today that it is suspending home rule in Northern Ireland and taking direct control of the strife-torn province in a bid for peace that risks civil war.

Prime Minister Edward Heath told the House of Commons that Northern Ireland's Protestant provincial government is being suspended for a year and the internment without trial of suspected Roman Catholic guerrillas is being eased.

He also said the six Ulster counties will be governed by William Whitelaw, the floor manager for Heath's government in Commons, who will be named to the new post of cabinet minister for Northern Ireland.

Heath said Whitelaw would be assisted by a commission of local residents "fully representative of opinion in Northern Ireland," meaning it would include representatives of the Catholic minority as well as the Protestant majority.

The response from Northern Ireland was almost entirely unfavorable, and there was widespread fear that Protestant extremists would turn to violence in retaliation for the ending of 50 years of Protestant rule.

Frazier Agnew, leader of the militant Belfast Young Unionists, accused Heath of betrayal and said he "has hastened the inevitability of civil war."

The Catholic guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing vowed to continue their campaign of bombing and shooting to unite the Protestant North with the Catholic Irish Republic in the south.

Edward MacAteer, leader of the more moderate Catholic Civil Rights Movement, said he preferred Protestant Irish rule to that of Englishmen in the "remote and insensitive smoke-filled rooms of Westminster." Six thousand Protestant shipyard workers in Belfast left their jobs and marched to the city hall in protest.

In an overtone to the Roman Catholic minority in the six northern counties of Ireland, Heath also announced plans to release some of the suspected guerrillas interned there without trial and a plebiscite on whether the people of Northern Ireland want to unite with the Irish Republic.

The outcome of the plebiscite is a certainty since Protestants outnumber Catholics 2 to 1 in Northern Ireland and are solidly opposed to Catholic rule from the South.

The government took direct rule of the province after 31 months of religious-political warfare that has taken 286 lives and brought Britain to its gravest constitutional crisis since King Edward VIII abdicated in 1936.

To Defend Nixon's Busing Plan

By JOE HALL

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Education Secretary Elliot L. Richardson arranged to go before a doubting Senate Education subcommittee today to defend President Nixon's proposals to end busing and concentrate federal spending on poor-school areas.

Today's hearing is expected to be the first of a lengthy series by various congressional panels on the legislation Nixon sent to Capitol Hill last Monday.

The Education panel is considering that part of the package dealing with $2.5 billion and with the guidelines Nixon proposed for shutting off further busing orders.

The proposed one-year moratorium on such orders is separate legislation that was sent to the Judiciary Committee.

As the fourth part of his anti-busing program, Nixon said he would order the Justice Department to intervene in select court cases in which he concluded that judges had gone too far in ordering busing.

Justice made the first move under that directive Thursday, asking a District Court judge to delay action in the Detroit desegregation case until Congress considers Nixon's moratorium.

Such a delay, the motion said, "will contribute to the orderly resolution of the matters" and "will not materially affect the timely resolution of issues before the court."

Judge Stephen J. Roth ruled last Sept. 27 that the Detroit school system was segregated. He is considering several desegregation plans, some of which probably would involve extensive busing.

The Education subcommittee is dominated by liberals with strong civil-rights inclinations who long have supported busing where it is considered necessary to end a segregated school system.

Rain Is Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain is expected to end in Arkansas Saturday with gradual clearing from the west developing by late Saturday.

The forecast calls for a 60 to 80 per cent chance of rain and a few thunderstorms today, possibly becoming heavy. There is also a 30 to 60 per cent chance of precipitation tonight.

A large high pressure ridge that is feeding cool air southward into Arkansas and a deepening low pressure system that is bringing warm and moist air from the gulf were separated this morning by a stationary front. Add a cold front moving into the area and the result is precipitation.

The clearing that is expected to begin late Saturday should continue Sunday with fair skies and cool temperatures forecast.

Highs Thursday ranged from the 60s in the northeast portion of the state to 80s in the southwest. Highs today should be in the 50s northeast to the mid 60s southwest with readings in the upper 50s to 60s forecast for Saturday.

Lows tonight should be in the upper 30s north to the 40s elsewhere.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 43, Harrison 38, Jonesboro 41, Pine Bluff 49, Memphis 42, Texarkana 48, El Dorado 53, Fort Smith 45 and Little Rock 47.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. include a trace at El Dorado and Memphis, .04 at Little Rock and Fort Smith, .07 at Jonesboro, .02 at Pine Bluff, .23 at Texarkana, .62 at Fayetteville and .74 at Harrison.

Terrorists Blow Bridge to Cambodia's Largest City

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Terrorists blew out the center span of Phnom Penh's main bridge across the Mekong River today, killing three persons and wounding five in the third attack on the Cambodian capital this week.

Authorities arrested six men and two girls and said they were the terrorists.

The blast at noon was felt through the downtown section of the city as it ripped a 30-yard gap in the middle of the half-mile-long bridge.

Officials said they did not know how long repairs would take, but supplying of troops fighting on the eastern side of the river would be hampered in the meantime. The bridge connects Phnom Penh with Highway 6 to the north and northeast. Officials said the terrorists put a large plastic charge inside a truck, abandoned it in the middle of the bridge and told security guards it had broken down. But the explosion went off before they got away. The three dead were believed to be security guards.

Frogmen using plastic charges attacked several ships anchored in the Bassac River on the southern edge of Phnom Penh early Thursday, and one cargo vessel was sunk. On Tuesday, enemy gunners fired 100 rockets into Phnom Penh, killing more than 100 persons and wounding more than 200.

A spokesman for the Cambodian military command said North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops kept up harassing rocket and mortar attacks on several government positions in the Phnom Penh area Thursday night. South Vietnamese rangers and armored vehicles began a push to help Cambodian forces clear Highway 15 and lift the siege of Prey Veng, a provincial capital 30 miles east of Phnom Penh.

The South Vietnamese were pushing north from the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway and ran into enemy troops 10 miles southeast of Prey Veng. The Saigon command said 15 of the enemy and one South Vietnamese were killed and one South Vietnamese was wounded.

Cambodian troops trying to break out of Prey Veng were reported to have linked up with a Cambodian column pushing northward on Highway 15, but spokesmen said there was still a heavy concentration of Communist troops in the area.

No Sympathy for U.S. Leaving UN

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The United States ambassador to the United Nations told an audience at the University of Arkansas Thursday night that there was not much sympathy in America for the United States getting out of the organization.

"I went there as a critic, I'm still a critic and I expect when

U.S. May Enter Memphis School Fuss

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Justice Department is seriously considering intervening in the Memphis school desegregation case, the Memphis Commercial Appeal reported today.

The newspaper quoted an administration source as saying that Memphis, the nation's 10th largest school system, may be the next selected for intervention in a test of President Nixon's antibusing policy.

The Justice Department announced Thursday it would intervene in the Detroit case.

In the first intervention since the President's special message on busing last week, the Justice Department moved in U.S. District Court in Detroit Thursday for a delay until Congress considers Nixon's proposal.

The Memphis School Board Tuesday filed a similar request which was immediately denied by Judge Robert McRae of U.S. District Court. McRae is to begin hearing a desegregation suit against the city's schools Tuesday.

McRae said he knew of no authority granted his court to postpone a hearing in anticipation of congressional action when it was unknown what that action would be and whether it would stand the test of prior rulings of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Memphis has about 145,000 city school pupils and presently operates no buses. However, plans for further desegregation of the city system by both the school board and the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund call for busing of some pupils.

The city claims that under one of its plans, which is about half as strong as the one proposed by the fund, the first year cost of busing would be nearly $20 million.

Sen. Howard Baker Jr., R-Tenn.; Rep. Ray Blanton, D-Tenn. and other members of the state's congressional delegation have urged the Justice Department to act in the Memphis case

Johnson Files UN to Receive Top Chinese Official for Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Foster Johnson, 57, of Little Rock paid his $2,500 filing fee at Democratic party state headquarters here today as a candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Johnson later told newsmen at the Capitol that the incumbent, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., "takes credit for everything the government spends money for in the whole state."

"I don't think the incumbent senator is working to the best interest of the people," Johnson said. "I mean especially the little people of the state of Arkansas."

Johnson later filed at the office of Secretary of State Kelly Bryant.

Johnson, who sells real estate, unsuccessfully opposed McClellan in the 1966 election and ran unsuccessfully in 1968 against Arkansas' other senator, J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark.

He said that he could serve into a fourth term before he would be as old as McClellan is today, McClellan is 76.

Johnson told newsmen that there was a question of whether McClellan could live out another six-year term as senator.

Johnson said the way McClellan uses his senatorial power is evident in "the area banking problem."

"He owns stock in several banks and saving and loan institutions in this state and is on the board of directors of the First National Bank in Little Rock," Johnson said. "A new bank charter in the state of Arkansas is hard to get unless the incumbent senator has some of the stock."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations is about to get its first undersecretary-general from Communist China, diplomatic sources reported today.

The sources said Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim and the Chinese had agreed that Peking's first representative in the U.N. secretariat's top echelon would head the department that deals with trusteeship and nonself-governing territories.

But it is being expanded to deal with colonialism and such related problems as racial conflicts in Rhodesia and South Africa.

The Chinese requested the colonialism post, it was reported. Their request was in line with their desire, expressed when they joined the United Nations, to associate themselves with the so-called Third World, between the Soviet bloc and the United States and its allies.

The top posts in the U.N. secretariat are distributed geographically and include an undersecretary-general from each of the five permanent members of the Security Council—the Soviet Union, China, the United States, France, and Britain.

The identity of the new Chinese undersecretary-general is expected to be disclosed next Tuesday when Waldheim announces the composition of his reorganized cabinet.

Wants Gas Order Modified

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Public Service Commission was asked Thursday by Agric Chemical Co. of Blytheville to rescind or modify its order that allowed Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. an interim increase in its industrial gas rates.

Agrico said in its petition that a cost of gas adjustment clause included in the PSC order was an unlawful delegation of PSC authority.

The petition also said that, contrary to Arkla's statements, the increase was not needed even on an interim basis to obtain financing for the pipeline Arkla plans to build to the Anadarko Basin.

Arkla applied to the PSC last fall for an industrial rate increase averaging 20 per cent. On Nov. 5, the PSC approved the increase on an interim basis, requiring Arkla to post a bond to cover any refunds that might have to be made if the PSC subsequently determined that the increase was excessive.

Arkla is now asking the PSC to make the rate increase permanent.

Shower for Miss Williams
A miscellaneous bridal shower for Miss Charlotte Williams, bride-elect of Mark Starks, was given on March 17 in the home of Mrs. Jack Arnette with Mrs. Billy Don Dougan, Mrs. Delton Hatfield and Mrs. Larry Arnette, co-hostesses.

The honoree wore an aqua dress and pinned pink camellias at her shoulder. Varigated camellias were presented to Mrs. J.C. Williams and Mrs. Denville Starks, mothers of the engaged couple, and to Mrs. Rufus Mouser, grandmother of the bride-elect.

A pink cloth covered the serving table that was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. Pink punch, nuts and cookies were served to 35 guests. Miss Paula Poindexter presided over the guest book, and the many lovely gifts were attractively displayed.

WOMAN JOINS POLICE
ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Alton now has its first policewoman, a 34-year-old blonde and mother of four children.
Mrs. Bonnie Towse, a former physical education teacher, now wears a badge and a gun. "She'll be no different than the rest of the police officers," said Rudy Sowders, police chief.
Mrs. Towse will be trained, like her male counterparts, at the University of Illinois, in a 240-hour course.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Viewers who have wondered what happened to Allison MacKenzie of "Peyton Place," after she disappeared just about the time Mia Farrow married Frank Sinatra, are going to find out.

"Return to Peyton Place" will arrive on network television as an afternoon serial on April 3 and pick up where the nighttime soap opera left off. NBC had made a deal with 20th Century-Fox to acquire the broadcast rights to Peyton Place in an unusual deal.

ABC's experiment with nighttime soap opera ran from 1964 to 1969. The new, afternoon version has a head start with the audience and in several other areas. There are available all those filmed exterior shots of the New England town through all the seasons of the year.

James Lipton, the new writer, has studied the two books and the two movies and sat through most of the television series. He has projected a new story line that will run for a year.

"Return to Peyton Place" is the first project of Clare Simpson, NBC's new vice president of daytime programming. He has been commuting to California, midwifing the new series.

"Peyton Place" was a filmed show; "Return to Peyton Place" is taped. One of Simpson's major concerns has been adapting the interiors of the old to the revival.

Biggest problem has been casting. Simpson wanted to get back as many members of the original cast as possible—not easy because so many have spun off the serial to busy acting careers.

That list is headed by Mia Farrow and Ryan O'Neal. Simpson was able to sign four of the original players, however.

A sort of bush league "Gone With the Wind"—Scarlett O'Hara hunt has been going on for an actress to step into Mia Farrow's role of Allison.

Kathy Glass finally got the nod. Miss Glass has appeared in daytime serials and off-Broadway shows.

"We have the greatest acting talent ever assembled for a daytime serial," said Simpson. "I know it will work. But if we fail, it will be because the characters are not drawn right."

"Character is the key in daytime drama. At night you can dazzle the viewers with plot. In daytime serials, you can't have a lot of plot but you must have three story lines going at one time—one that is peaking, one that is rising and one that is just emerging."

Appeal Saved County Money

GREAT BEND, Kan. (AP) — Sheriff Marion Weese of Barton County says he appealed to the common sense several months ago of two youths discovered chopping down a stop sign, and the tactic saved county taxpayers about $2,000.

The sheriff said Wednesday he agreed not to file charges against the youths with the stipulation they help recover other missing signs.

The results in the no-questions-asked campaign were instantaneous, with many signs left in the dead of night on the sheriff's steps.
The campaign has netted 56 signs including 12 stop signs, 6 road-closed signs and 6 yellow light flashers plus 5 rubber cone stands and one mailbox.

Tryout for Speedmeter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A radar-activated speed meter that signals an approaching motorist the speed at which he is traveling is to be tested on speed-prone city thoroughfares.
The device, radar tracking instruments and an oversize screen mockup of a car speedometer, was demonstrated Wednesday to city officials and newsmen near City Hall.

When aligned, the meter flashed a car's speed at the moment when the screen came into the driver's view.

The Department of Traffic intends to install the device, developed by traffic engineer S. S. Taylor, at four high-speed areas in the city.

PENNY BURKE

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Burke of Hope announce the engagement of their daughter, Penny Burke, to William Wayne Bussey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bussey of Wilson, Arkansas.

Miss Burke will receive a B.S.E. degree in Elementary Education from State College of Arkansas in May. She is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority. Mr. Bussey is a senior at Hendrix College, majoring in Business and Economics.

The wedding will be an event of June 24 at the First United Methodist Church in Hope.

Helen Bottel Helen Help Us!

Who's Discriminating Now?
Dear Helen:

Our medium-sized newspaper seldom has less than five pages devoted to sports—and nine-tenths of these sports items are for and about men.

The women's section, by contrast, is a skimpy one-pager (half ads), except for the Sunday brides' insert, and a weekly two pages of school news. I understand women's page space is shrinking all over the country.
Discrimination again? —FOR EQUAL SPACE

Dear FES:
More likely, NON-discrimination. News and features about women are no longer considered "for women only," and so they're often spread all over the paper.

But—let's hear it from editors, who can answer your question much better than I. —H.

I'm a 58-year-old grandmother who doesn't smoke anything. But I think the time has come to stop wasting our tax dollars on a law that can't be enforced: We should follow the recommendation of the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse and "decriminalize" marijuana.

Research shows that pot is relatively harmless (to adults) if used in moderation—probably less harmful than cigarettes and alcohol, or at least on a par.

Even women's magazines are publishing pro-legalization articles. Officials in the Food and Drug Administration and the Mental Health Association are calling pot "not so black."

I ask my contemporaries what are the proved dangers of marijuana and they say it must be bad because it's against the law. Then I ask if they ever took a drink during prohibition. They say, "Yes, but that's different." How different?

I'm not advocating the use of marijuana or alcohol. I merely wish people to become educated on the difference between it and truly dangerous drugs. Maybe then we could have limited legalization (no sales to juveniles, no advertising, distribution only through specified agencies) and spend our efforts fighting the real and menacing traffic in hard narcotics. —MRS. A.L.

Dear Mrs. L.:
My stand on pot has always been: "Legalization if proved relatively safe." Perhaps that time has come. I don't know, nor (I suspect) do the researchers. But...is a government that bans cyclamates ready to take a chance on marijuana?
Decriminalizing pot?

NCAA Swim Meet Starts

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Perennial runner-up Southern California took its best shot at record-bound Indiana as the three-day NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships got under way Thursday ... and came out trailing by 17 points.

"Everything came out more or less the way I predicted," said Peter Daland of Southern Cal, who had forecast that three of the opening night finals—the 500-yard freestyle, the 200-yard individual medley and 400-yard medley relay—would be key events.

"We did fairly well in the first, poorly in the second and very well in the third and won those three events by a total of two points."

The difference in Indiana's 116-99 lead was 17 points in the one-meter diving, where Southern Cal had no one entered.

"They'll do it again in the three-meter dive," Daland predicted. "That makes 34 points or so and I doubt if we can out-swim them in the other events by six points."

Although Indiana, shooting for a record-tying fifth consecutive NCAA crown, got American records from Olympians John Kinsella in the 500-yard freestyle and Gary Hall in the 200-yard individual medley, it was a fifth place worth 10 points by Gary James and a seventh place for seven points by Tom Eldridge in the one-meter dive that enabled the Hoosiers to take a comfortable lead into today's six events.

Besides Kinsella and Hall, other winners were Tennessee's Dave Edgar in the 400-yard freestyle, Ohio State's Todd Smith in the diving and the Southern Cal foursome of Steve Cameron, Dave Mayekawa, Frank Heckl and Mike Weston in the 400-yard medley relay.

Even though the powerful Kinsella set an American record of 4 minutes, 24.49 seconds in the 500-freestyle, Southern Cal took the lead.

NBA Issue Explosive

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association owners moved to defuse an explosive situation Thursday when they adopted a resolution aimed at preventing players from jumping between the NBA and the rival American Basketball Association.

"Hereafter," explained NBA Commissioner Walter J. Kennedy, "the NBA will not approve any contract of a player already under contract, until there has been a final court determination that the earlier contract is invalid."

Such court action, according to Kennedy, "could very well take a long time, and a player couldn't play while decisions were pending."

Thus, an ABA player seeking to jump to the NBA might be forced to sit out two or three years while his case is argued and appealed in court.

Recently, Jim McDaniels jumped from Carolina of the ABA to Seattle of the NBA, and Charlie Scott left Virginia of the ABA and signed with Phoenix of the NBA.

Despite the acquisition of these two stars, the NBA owners were eager to put a stop to the player jumping.

First of all, they do not want to lose any of their own players. Also, looking towards the proposed merger of the two leagues, the owners do not want to provide support for the ern Cal took an early 33-23 lead due to a 2-4-6 finish by Jim McConica, Tom McBreen and Bengt Gingsjo of Sweden.

"The main thing was to get the whole team psyched up at the start," Kinsella said. "It was really easy out there. I thought I had it locked up on the third lap from the end."

Hall then went out and erased his American and NCAA record of 1:52.200 in the 200 individual medley with a clocking of 1:51.507 as Indiana took the team lead. Southern Cal's Steve Furniss was second in 1:52.483.

Trailing Indiana and Southern Cal were UCLA with 64 points, Tennessee with 44-29 on a 1-2 sweep by Edgar and John Tremblay in the 50-yard freestyle—and Ohio State with 37, all in the diving.

Niagara Barely Edges St. Johns

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Center Greg Cluess said he didn't, but referee Joe DeBonis said he did.

The referee had the last word, as usual, and called a foul on the St. John's, N.Y. big man.

All Williams then made the last free throws, giving Niagara a tingling 69-67 basketball victory over the Redmen Thursday night in the semi-finals of the 31st National Invitation Tournament.

"I didn't touch him, I didn't even come close," said Cluess after Niagara pulled out the thriller on Williams' foul shots with five seconds left and joined Maryland in the finals Saturday.

The Terrapins earlier advanced to the playoff game by running Jacksonville out of Madison Square Garden with a 75-60 victory.

Bobcats Open With a Shutout Victory

By BILL MOORE

Exploding for three quick runs in the third inning, the Hope Bobcats glided to a 5-0 victory over Ouachita at Legion Field yesterday.

Now sporting an early 1-0 record, the Bobcats travel to Texarkana on Monday afternoon to tangle with a fine Arkansas Razorback team.

Unable to account for much the first two innings, the Bobcats came in for their turn at bat in the bottom of the third.

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "It's part of my Masters preparation," Jack Nicklaus said of his decision to quit smoking.

But the hard-hitting blond, the dominant figure on the pro golf tour this year, smiled and added: "It's no big thing. I go off and on all the time."

"I just quit yesterday. I decided it was the thing to do for the Masters. I find my nerves are better if I'm not smoking. I'm not as nervous and jumpy."

Nicklaus, the game's all-time leading money winner and the only two-time champion this season, made the comments Thursday after firing a six-under-par 66 to move into a five-way tie for first place in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

He was tied with Billy Casper, who also talked about his nerves, veteran Mason Rudolph and long-shots Bunky Henry and Bob Payne. All forged 66s as over half the field of 147 matched or bettered par.

There were seven players at 67, just one stroke off the pace, and a total of 24 locked within three strokes of each other at the top.

Tied at five-under-par were Terry Wilson, Larry Ziegler, Dave Eichelberger, Ralph Johnston, Jim Colbert, John Schroeder and Billy Zioebro.

Some of the game's big names had their troubles.

Defending champion Frank Beard could do no better than par 72. South African Gary Player had to rally for a 73. Tony Jacklin of England, winner of last week's Greater Jacksonville Open, was far back with a 74.

But their problems were nothing compared to those of Howie Johnson, Bobby Cole and Australian Bruce Crampton.

Johnson and Cole each took a 10 on the 14th hole, Johnson hitting three in the water. And Crampton actually had a 69 but signed for a 70. Under the rules of golf, he's stuck with higher score.

Casper, in a severe slump early this year, took four weeks off the tour to go fishing. This is his first start since his vacation.

"I just put the clubs in the storage room and tried to forget the game of golf," said Casper, who has won more than 40 tour titles and over $1 million in prize money.

"I'm mentally refreshed. I'm much more contained now. Everything seems much easier. Before, everything was very difficult. I was impatient, nervous, everything that goes with too much activity."

Casper missed only one green in his round. But he parred the last hole with a six-foot putt.

Nicklaus, who won't play again until the Masters in two weeks, didn't have a bogey, didn't miss a green and didn't make but one putt from more than six feet.

NFL Changes Game by Just 7 Yards

HONOLULU (AP) — National Football League owners have changed their game by just seven yards—not even the distance of a first down. But Super Bowl coaches Tom Landry and Don Shula think that's enough to significantly aid the sport's harassed offensive units.

Four rule changes actually were adopted Thursday. The major one concerned movement of the hash marks used for the placement of the ball 3½ yards more towards the center of the field on either side, or an adjustment of seven yards.

It's that seven yards Dallas Coach Landry and Miami Coach Shula feel will give the offense more maneuverability against today's mammoth defensive units, which during the last three years have been held largely responsible for a 100 touchdown dropoff in scoring.

"I think it's a step in the right direction," said Landry. "It will enable offenses to operate better. It gives you more width of the field to attack both ways—with the run and the pass. The short side has become wider, and that's the significant change."

"I think that'll open things up a little," Shula concurred. "For example, we have Paul Warfield and we didn't like him on the short side of the field. Then here's Bob Griese—a young quarterback capable of scrambling who will have more field to work in."

Coupled with the hash mark move was the adoption of mandatory uniform markings for each NFL playing fields with the yard-line markings starting just one yard in from the new hash marks.

The first part of the change—moving the hash marks—serves the purpose of widening the field for offensive exploitation and, in theory, will aid the run, the pass and the kick. The second part of the change—uniform marking—destroys one of the keys used by some zone defenses.

Discussing the impact of making field markings uniform, Mark Duncan, the NFL's supervisor of officials, explained "that some teams used field markings as their keys" and that the change would prevent any team from getting an edge.

"Any time you have more consistency the better the game will be," Stram said. "It takes away anything a team might do for an advantage from a local point of view."

In other rules action: —The owners also tried to stimulate the offense by permitting punts to be run out of end zone. Previously they were an automatic touchback.

—Made two changes in penalties: the penalty for a receiver stepping out of bounds and returning to catch a pass was reduced from 15 yards and loss of down to just loss of down. The penalty for grabbing a face mask was reduced to five yards and an automatic first down, unless in the judgment of the official the act is flagrant and then it will remain 15 yards and an automatic first down.

IT HAS BEEN 25 years this spring that Jackie Robinson, trapped in a rundown in a 1949 game in the photo at left, signed a Brooklyn Dodger contract and became the first black player in baseball's major leagues. But he is still receiving awards, such as the "Man of the Last 25 Years" trophy from a sports magazine that he is admiring at right.

Florida State, UCLA in NCAA Cage Finals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Walton and Otto Petty will never see eye to eye. Yet the 6-foot-11 UCLA center and the 5-7 Florida State guard loom as the key players this Saturday night in the national collegiate basketball finals.

Each propelled his team to a semifinal victory Thursday night, Walton and his favored UCLA bruins by a lopsided 96-77 over Louisville and Petty's Seminoles in a cliff-hanger.

Walton took only 13 shots, made 11 of them, wound up with 33 points and 21 rebounds and blocked six shots as the Bruins, seeking their sixth straight NCAA crown, demolished Louisville's Cardinals in the second half.

Florida State did its damage in the first half, leading by 23 points early in the final stanza, before edging North Carolina 79-75.

The free-wheeling Seminoles used quickness and a sizzling fast break plus Petty's dribbling skills to win. Later, winning Coach Hugh Durham said the same type of game is in store for the Bruins.

"We're not planning to slow the ball down," said Durham, admitting he's heard rumors that teams can't run and shoot with the Bruins and win.

"If you run against them, you might catch Walton away from the basket but if you slow down, he'll be there and gobble everything up."

Petty destroyed the North Carolina full-court press with some astonishing dribbling.

UCLA Coach John Wooden admitted Petty was the key to Florida State's triumph.

"We expect Petty will give us trouble on our press but we'll give him a lot of trouble, also," said Wooden.

Florida State's offense ran into a cold spell midway through the second half against the Tar Heels and North Carolina chewed away until the score was 70-65 with 5:45 to play. But a layup by Greg Samuels, the Seminoles' 5-9 starting guard, helped pull Florida State into the final game. Walton, double teamed most of the night, started UCLA's famed fast break with quick outlet passes.

Petty scored 10 points and had six assists in leading the Seminoles but the junior won't start against the Bruins Saturday. Samuel begins each game because he's better on defense.

Durham said he brings on Petty to light a fire under his kids.

Others Would Like Such Problems

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Baltimore Oriole Manager Earl Weaver has a problem, but it's the kind of problem the 11 other American League managers would just love to have.

The problem is what to do about Bobby Grich, rookie infielder.

It's a problem because Grich is no ordinary rookie infielder. But then again, the Baltimore infield is no ordinary infield.

Grich spent most of last season playing shortstop for Rochester, where he led the International League with a .336 batting average and 32 home runs. In seven games with Baltimore at the end of the season, he batted .300.

The problem is that Dave Johnson, Mark Belanger and Brooks Robinson are in the same infield.

Johnson at second base, batted .280, .281 and .282 the last three seasons, earning a "Golden Glove" for fielding excellence each time. Belanger, the shortstop, hit .266 last season and won his second "Golden Glove." Robinson, at third base, has appeared in 15 straight All-Star games, won 12 consecutive "Golden Gloves," and has a career average of .274.

That would seem to leave little room for Grich, except maybe on the bench as a utilityman.

But if that situation is bothering him, Grich isn't letting it show. In an exhibition game against St. Louis Thursday, Grich cracked five hits, sparking the Orioles to an 11-0 romp over the Cardinals.

In other exhibition games, San Diego defeated Oakland 8-3, the New York Yankees beat Boston 13-7, the Chicago Cubs topped Cleveland 8-3, Pittsburgh outscored Los Angeles 11-6, the New York Mets downed Philadelphia 8-3, Houston whipped Montreal 7-1, Minnesota edged Detroit 10-8, Cincinnati trounced Kansas City 4-2, Texas beat Atlanta 7-3 and was praised by Wooden for his fine defense on Jim Price. Even though the 6-foot-3 Cardinal guard scored 30 points, Wooden said many of them came when the game was no longer in doubt.

UCLA led Louisville 39-31 at halftime but took a commanding lead midway in the second half. The Cardinals appeared to have some trouble with the UCLA zone press but only committed 11 turnovers in the game.

Milwaukee nipped California 87 in 12 innings. San Diego reached Oakland's Denny McLain for seven runs and 14 hits in five innings and posted its fifth consecutive exhibition victory, while the Yankees collected 16 hits—including home runs by Ron Blomberg, Bobby Murcer and Rusty Torres—against the Red Sox.

The Cubs rallied for five runs in the ninth inning to beat Cleveland, Billy Williams driving in the tie-breaking run with a double. Willie Stargell and Roberto Clemente stroked three hits apiece as Pittsburgh had 17 hits in beating Los Angeles.

John Milner drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double as the Mets scored six runs in the third inning and breezed past Philadelphia. Larry Dierker of Houston pitched six innings against Montreal and limited the Expos to four hits.

Minnesota scored two unearned runs in the ninth when Ike Bessitt, a rookie right fielder for Detroit, dropped Rick Dempsey's fly ball after losing it in the sun.

Second baseman Joe Morgan, acquired from Houston over the winter, doubled home two runs to spark Cincinnati, while Texas racked Atlanta starter Jim Nash for seven runs in five innings and coasted to victory.

Rich Auerbach's 12th-inning single drove in Tom Reynolds with the winning run in Milwaukee's victory over California.

Coach Gets Biggest Thrill

SALEM, Va. (AP) — "I'm thrilled. That's the greatest honor ever bestowed on me. I wish I had the words to express how I feel," said Charlie Moir of Roanoke College after learning he had been named College Division basketball Coach of the Year by The Associated Press Thursday.

But Moir preferred to talk about his team, which capped a 28-4 season with a 19-game winning streak, the last three in the NCAA College Division tournament last week at Evansville, Ind.

Had he really expected Roanoke to win the title?

"Not really," said Moir, who in five seasons has led the Maroons to 110 victories against 38 defeats. "I knew we'd have a good ball club," Moir added.

State Loses Two Games

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Arkansas State University dropped two college baseball games here Thursday, 18-5 to Alabama and 7-2 to Ohio University.

Alabama used three home runs, two by Robin Cary, to beat the Indians. Robby Harris, bowler, was the first of four ASU pitchers to parade to the mound. Harris was the loser, being knocked out in the second inning after giving up five runs.

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from Richard Alden Knight's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

Secretary of State Kelly Bryant left Thursday for Orlando, Florida to preside over the Executive Session of the National Association of Secretaries of State. Bryant is President of the organization, which unites all Secretaries of State in the Nation.

Representatives of 22 states are expected at the conference in Florida, to determine the structure of the National Conference to be held at Hershey, Pennsylvania later this year. The Secretaries of State will be working on their agenda of outstanding speakers, the problems facing most states with new election laws, and new techniques in voting equipment. The standardization of Commercial Code mortgage forms and corporation laws in all of the 50 states will constitute a part of their sessions in Florida.

Mrs. Bryant will accompany the Secretary to Florida. As a gesture of the good will from the people of Arkansas, Secretary and Mrs. Bryant will take to Florida products of Arkansas as gifts for the Secretaries. Taking agricultural products from Riceland Foods in Stuttgart to represent the fact that Arkansas is number one in the nation in rice production and number four in soybean production. With timber fast becoming a major industry, walnut salad bowls will represent that industry. These hand turned walnut salad bowls will represent the timber and crafts industries. The bowls were hand made by members of the Ozarks Foothills Handicraft Guild which was organized to encourage the handicraft of the mountain regions of Arkansas, and to produce income for the rural people of the state.

To represent the balanced economy of industry, a warming tray manufactured by the Munsey Company of Little Rock will be presented to each Secretary of State. As a special gift, a desk parking meter made by the Rockwell Manufacturing Company at Russellville will be given as a special gift to the Host Secretary, Richard "Dick" Stone of Florida.

Several outstanding national leaders from industry, government and education are expected to meet with the Executive Committee in Florida.

Commenting on the Conference, Bryant said the Secretaries of State organization is the oldest state organization in the Nation, and is constantly striving to improve service to the people.

Bryant said that one of the important discussions of the conference would be to undertake a study of the high cost of elections. The Secretary added that a panel would lead a study to see if ways and means could be found that would allow County or State governments to pay part of the cost of holding elections.

Bryant added that through the mutual understanding of the problems surrounding the complex duties of Secretary of State, all Arkansas will gain from the sharing of experiences with the various states' Secretaries of State who have become his close personal friends through the years.

The Bryants will return to Little Rock on Monday, March 27th.

When today's hand was played back around 1936 it caused quite a squabble. South wanted to know how his partner could make a takeout double at the three level with nothing in spades and North wanted to know why South had to go to six under his own steam after the double.

We feel the squabble might have become a real fight if North had known that South could make the slam after West led two rounds of hearts.

South did try a very ineffective squeeze. After playing a few rounds of trumps he played three rounds of diamonds. Then he ran the rest of his trumps.

If West had been long in both minors he would have made the hand, but West had bid three hearts and shown up with two spades. The squeeze had to be against East.

South should have played out all but one trump and discarded down to ace-king of clubs and all four diamonds in dummy. East would have to get down to six cards also. If he hung onto four diamonds South could cash dummy's top clubs, get back to his own hand by ruffing a diamond and score the 12th trick with his eight clubs.

If East held three clubs South could play three rounds of diamonds to set up the last diamond in dummy. Of course, South would have to decide just what cards East had hung onto.

♥CARD Sense♦

The bidding has been:
West North East South
Pass 1♥ Pass 2♠
Pass 3♥ Pass 3♠
Pass 4♥ Pass

You, South, hold:
AK654♥A2♦J♠AK654

What do you do now?
A—Pass. Your partner has shown a lot of hearts, but also a bad hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding three hearts, your partner has bid four hearts over your two spades. What do you do now?

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

In 1970, some 6.9 per cent (4.7 million) of the 67.6 million year-round housing units in the United States lacked basic plumbing facilities in contrast to 16.8 per cent lacking such facilities in 1960. The World Almanac says. These facilities include a flush toilet, a bathtub or shower for the exclusive use of the occupants of the housing unit and hot piped water.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Formation of Fetus Is Fascinating

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you please write some information on the gills of a tiny developing baby. I am an expectant mother and I think that is very interesting. Are the gills near the ears? It seems like I have heard that somewhere.

Dear Reader — When the baby first starts developing, it goes through the different stages that we identify with the evolution of the animal species. Zoologists classify animals from those beginning with one cell organisms through fish, animals and man. This arrangement is called phylogeny. Individuals who subscribe to evolution feel that this is how man developed.

When the fertilized ovum (egg) begins to develop into a baby, it undergoes a sequence of events which are very similar to this organized classification of the animal world. Since the process of development leading to birth is called ontogeny, this observation has been succinctly expressed as "ontogeny recapitulates phylogeny," which means that the development process recaps the stages of evolution.

In the course of the baby's development, one stage is the fish stage and there are gills entirely analogous to those seen in fish. They are located at the upper part of the fetus near the area where the lungs and heart and great arteries are developing. As the gills are lost, the artery that normally goes along each gill undergoes a transformation and as these arches of the arteries are changed they end up being the main arteries we have in the body including the large aorta that feeds blood to most of the body except the lungs, the pulmonary artery that feeds blood to the lungs and the branches that go to the neck and head.

Even the heart itself undergoes a series of developmental changes. They are at one stage analogous to structures noted in fish, reptiles and finally normal man.

Almost all of the specialized organs of the body undergo such an evolutionary development. There is a species in the animal kingdom that will contain some structure entirely analogous to some temporary state of the developing fetus. This entire complex process is carried out according to individual blueprints. The first cell formation between the female egg and the sperm contains one-half of the blueprint from each parent, or the genes. These will be the same for all the rest of the cells for the entire development process.

I agree with you. The entire process is absolutely fascinating.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

O God, from my youth thou hast taught me, and I still proclaim thy wondrous deeds.—Psalms 71:17.

Youth, though it may lack knowledge, is certainly not devoid of intelligence; it sees through shams with sharp and terrible eyes.—Henry L. Mencken, philosopher.

Who among you will give ear to this, will attend and listen for the time to come?—Isaiah 42:23.

Protestants, Navy Move to Showdown

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — American Protestant representatives are moving toward a showdown with the Navy over the moral supervision of its chaplains, a right the churches insist belongs to them and not to military commanders.
"We've finally been jolted into acting to get this principle cleared up," says the Rev. Dr. A. Raymond Applequist, of Washington, D.C., executive director of the General Commission on Chaplains and Armed Forces Personnel.
"Whatever the outcome, it undoubtedly will also affect relations with the other two armed services."
The historically touchy issue was brought to a head by the Navy's court martial case

Some men look to the heavens and only see new worlds to explore. Other men see God's handiwork. Some witness scientific and medical achievements and see evidence of the genius of man. Still others see what a God-given talent can accomplish. Some men look at poverty and misery and see their proof that God is dead. And no wonder, for to such men, life is merely something to be endured from birth to death. For them, life holds no excitement...no hope. These men are up to their necks in a sea of despair. They are drowning in their ocean of self-pity. There is another group who witness the same poverty and misery and see proof that a life without God is no life at all. They find life a challenge, a chance to serve God by fulfilling the Great Commission. These men are up to their necks in the service of God. They go out of their way every day, to extend a helping hand and say, God cares.

Area Students Favor Capital Punishment

Should the death penalty be abolished in the United States? No, according to area students who took part in the new nationwide VEC Student Opinion Poll.

Results of the survey showed students of this area more strongly in favor of the death penalty than students nationwide.

Two-hundred students in this area who took part in the poll. Forty-five percent felt that capital punishment should be retained; 40.5 percent felt it should be abolished; the rest were undecided.

In contrast, the national sample showed students about equally divided on the question of capital punishment.

The poll was timed to coincide with the United States Supreme Court's consideration of the constitutionality of capital punishment. The Court is now considering whether the death penalty violates the Constitution's prohibition of "cruel and unusual punishment."

Students were questioned on the issue as part of their weekly VEC News Program, a current events service for schools. The program uses visual aids to stimulate classroom discussion of current events and issues. It is a regular part of the curriculum in many area schools.

The total cost of the program for each school is paid for as a public service by this newspaper. Nationwide, more than 93,000 students took part in the survey. Participating students ranged from the fourth grade through senior high school.

The national sampling of nearly 100,000 young people revealed a remarkably even split in opinion. Nationwide, 44.9 percent of the students favored abolition of the death penalty; 44.3 voted to retain it; 10.8 percent expressed no opinion.

The nationwide results of the VEC Student Opinion Poll contrasted sharply with recent surveys of college students, who were reported to be more strongly in favor of abolishing the death penalty.

Rests Case in Priest's Trial

By LEE LINDER

Associated Press Writer
HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — After presenting testimony from 64 witnesses, the government has rested its bomb-kidnap conspiracy case against antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six others.

Today the defense presses motions for directed verdicts of acquittal.

"The government has failed to prove that there has been any conspiracy," said attorney Paul O'Dwyer, a member of the six-man defense team headed by former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

"They didn't prove there was a plot to kidnap the President's adviser, Henry Kissinger, and they didn't prove a plan to blow up government property," O'Dwyer said.

Chief prosecutor William Lynch said, "The evidence is overwhelming that they are guilty."

In a memorandum to U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman, the defendants accused the government of violating their constitutional rights by "proceeding against them in bad faith." They said they would introduce evidence to show this was deliberate discrimination.

"They are being prosecuted not for their conduct alone, but principally to vindicate the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Justice Department of the United States," the 24-page memo said.

"That animus and, indeed, malice arose because of the defendants' conscientious outrage at the government's war in Indochina, and because of their outspoken dedication to civil disobedience as a way of bringing the war to a halt."

Lynch called the defense claim of discriminatory prosecution ridiculous. Berrigan and the others are charged with conspiring in 1970 to kidnap White House aide Kissinger, blow up tunnels that carry steam heat to federal buildings in Washington, and vandalize Selective Service offices in at least nine states.

"They have proved there have been draft board raids, which we never denied, but they have not proved these were part of any conspiracy, which we do deny," O'Dwyer said.

The government rested its case after 24 days of testimony, one day short of the ninth week of the trial.

Thursday's final three government witnesses were all from the FBI, making it 21 agents put on by the government.

Palmer G. Tunstall, a handwriting expert, first authenticated letters exchanged between Berrigan and another defendant, Sister Elizabeth McAlister, concerning the alleged Kissinger kidnap plot.

The letters were copied by paid informer Boyd Douglas Jr., while he served as courier for Berrigan during the spring and summer of 1970. Both were inmates at the federal penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa.

Fingerprint experts linked three defendants to other facets of the government's case—Sister Elizabeth to a draft board raid in Delaware in June 1970, and two other Catholic priests, the Revs. Joseph Wenderoth and Neil McLaughlin to the alleged tunnel project.

U.S. Wants Agreement in SALT Talks

By KENNETH J. FREED

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American delegation to the strategic-arms-limitation talks with the Russians leaves for Finland today and discussions considered crucial to President Nixon's hopes of reaching a major agreement before his May summit meeting in Moscow.

The SALT negotiations, headed by Ambassador Gerard Smith, will go first to Brussels for consultations with America's European allies and then go on to Helsinki Saturday.

The seventh round of SALT will open Tuesday with Smith and the Russians expected to concentrate on the long-standing dispute over the number of defensive antiballistic missiles permitted each nation and whether submarine-based missiles should be included.

Although the ABM numbers question has tied up previous SALT discussion, U.S. officials privately predict a compromise will be reached in this round with estimates in the 150-to-200 range for each nation.

The U.S. desire for a limitation on submarine-based missiles could be a much tougher problem, officials indicate, particularly if Smith has been instructed to insist now on including them in any agreement.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said in a recent magazine interview that "we cannot accept a ceiling on antiballistic missile systems without a ceiling on land and submarine-based offensive missiles as well."

Since the Soviets have agreed in principle to limiting both defensive and offensive missiles at some future time, their continued refusal to include submarine-based nuclear weapons could lead to deadlock.

This would put a serious crimp in the President's hopes and often-stated expectation that he will go to Moscow May 22 with the major SALT agreement ready for signing.

Tax Reform on Minds of Demo Candidates

By GREGG HERRINGTON

Associated Press Writer

Tax reform is on the minds of Democratic presidential candidates and George C. Wallace says he is to thank for it.

Campaigning for the April 4 Wisconsin primary, the Alabama governor told a rally of 4,000 crowded into a Milwaukee auditorium that politicians are beginning to listen to the average man following Wallace's impressive 42 per cent win in last week's Florida Democratic primary.

"They're finally coming around to what the average man wants," Wallace said, "but I think it's too late." He said senators in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination "are taxing you to death and giving your money away."

Wallace said he talked about forced school busing in Florida "and I told them that if I won in Florida the President of the United States would do something about busing. And he did. 'Now I'm talking to you tonight about tax reform and I say to you, if you vote for George Wallace and he wins in Wisconsin, something will be done about tax reform, even before the election.'"

In La Crosse, Wis., South Dakota Sen. George McGovern told a college audience an "effective minimum tax" should be enacted under which every dollar earned by an individual over $50,000 per year would be taxed at a figure at least 75 per cent of the tax rate for that income bracket "no matter how many loopholes there are in the tax laws."

And in Milwaukee, New York Mayor John V. Lindsay outlined his proposed 30 per cent federal income tax credit against property taxes.

All persons earning less than $30,000 per year would be eligible, Lindsay explained, and it would be financed by "a rollback of the Nixon administration's gift to corporate America."

While the Wisconsin campaign goes on, in California, filing closes today for candidates seeking a spot on that state's June 6 presidential preference primary ballot.

McGovern and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine have already qualified.

According to Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., Lindsay, New York Rep. Shirley Chisholm and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota are also expected to qualify with no difficulty.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty and former Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy were also trying to come up with enough valid petition signatures to qualify, as was conservative Republican Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio, who is challenging President Nixon.

Love Letter Disputed

By F.T. MACFEELY

Associated Press Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A former Navy man says a purported love letter from Navy Chaplain Andrew F. Jensen to one of two women with whom he is accused of having illicit sexual relations is composed merely of words he dictated to Jensen.

Mike Wennersten, a 22-year-old drapery installer who said he was discharged from the Navy last year under the service's drug amnesty release program, testified Thursday he dictated the words to Jensen during a counseling session.

Jensen, senior chaplain at Cecil Field Naval Air Station, is being court-martialed on a charge of misconduct by adultery.

Mary Ann Curran, the 24-year-old blonde wife of a Navy flier who testified that she had had sexual relations with Jensen on 17 occasions, also claimed she had received a note from Jensen saying:

"My life was nothing covered by a hard shell until a persistent lovely girl penetrated the hard cover and filled it with joy, meaning, and most of all, love ... Please share your love with me forever."

But Wennersten identified the language as his, saying he frequently used the term "hard shell" to describe himself before Jensen began to counsel him "on a problem that involved the girl I eventually married."

Sometimes during counseling sessions, Wennersten said, Jensen would have him just lean back and say whatever he was thinking. In this case, Wennersten said, he was pretending to
